

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is pleased to announce the occasion of the first Chapel Hill Colloquium in Philosophy, and invites you to attend. Please direct all correspondence to:

Professor W. D. Falk
Chairman
Department of Philosophy
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27514

Accommodations: Those attending the Colloquium may stay at the Carolina Inn on the campus of the University. The Inn is directly across the street from Peabody Hall, where all sessions will be held. Rooms are available in the Inn at the following rates:

For 1 person: $7 - 10
For 2 persons: One double bed, $9 - 12
Twin beds, $11 - 14
Suites: For 1 person, $15
For 2 persons, $20

Please make your reservations directly with the Carolina Inn, and promptly. Be sure to tell the Inn if you wish to guarantee your reservation for late arrival.

Cost: There is no registration fee for the Colloquium. Tickets will be sold at registration for $10.50, which include the cost of Friday supper, Saturday lunch and dinner, and refreshments for the smoker, social hour, and coffee breaks. Friday supper may be had at your leisure in the Carolina Inn Cafeteria; Saturday lunch and dinner will be served banquets.

Transportation: Chapel Hill may be reached by car, bus, and by airplane at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. Limousine service is available from the airport to the Carolina Inn. Parking is available at the Inn at no cost.
